

纳米强化功能膜在水质净化方面的应用 Nano-enhanced membranes for water purification

Biography

Xin Li received his PhD degree from Nanjing University of Science & Technology (China, 2016). He has been a visiting student in KU Leuven (Belgium) since 2015 and received PhD degree in the Department of Chemical Engineering, KU Leuven (2017). He is currently a research fellow at the Singapore Membrane Technology Centre (SMTC), Nanyang Technological University (Singapore). He has authored 24 academic papers in peer-reviewed journals (e.g., Chem. Soc. Rev., Water Res., J. Membr. Sci., Desalination) and 1 book chapter. His research interests include nanomaterials, nano-enhanced membranes and novel membrane processes for separation.
